Annual Report 2005-2006

STEP Inc. serves area for 40 years

Franklin County citizens should take pride in an organization that has been providing services to citizens – and its success is due partly to citizens, businesses and local governments that have given support to the organization.

The organization is Support to Eliminate Poverty (STEP Inc.), which is observing its 40th anniversary this year.

STEP Inc., which is at 200 Dent St. in Rocky Mount, was chartered as the official anti-poverty agency in 1974 under the name Franklin County Community Action Agency. Some of the earliest programs provided were day care, adult education and a clothing bank.

Current programs offered by STEP include: food bank, job training, Start, housing and weatherization, alternative education programs, income tax assistance, financial emergency assistance, Project Discovery, Discover Life, senior meals programs, workforce development and mentoring services.

We commend STEP for providing service to those in need for the past 40 years and we wish the organization continued success in its programs that are vital to so many.

Citizens who wish to help STEP with its mission of helping those in need may make donations of money.

Rocky Mount Day Care Center opened Monday morning with four small-size customers.

Mrs. Syrena Prunty, supervisor of the center, said she hopes at least 30 children will be enrolled in the day care program soon.

The center is operated by the Franklin County Community Action program. Mrs. Prunty said any child three years to school aged may take advantage of the program. "We do require that they be (toilet) trained," she added.

Weekly rates at the center are $10 per child with additional charges for transportation.

time when a mother needs the service.

The center, on Diamond Avenue extension in the American Legion building, is open five days a week, 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Small charges are given two meals, breakfast and lunch, a snack and juice during the day. Other activities on the day's schedule include play, story times, music and art instruction.

The spacious American Legion building is divided into areas appropriate for each activity. All the equipment is light and easily stored in the office for weekends when the American Legion uses the building.

from these centers, as well as suggestions for planning well-balanced meals.

Several improvements were made to the kitchen at the center, on the suggestion of sanitation and health officials. Mrs. Prunty said regular frequent inspections will be made of all the center's facilities, with particular emphasis on the cooking area.

"Open house was last week," the supervisor said, "but we still invite people to come in. If anybody ever sees anything not clean here, we want them to report it."

The building and facilities have been approved by members of the local health department, representatives of the Virginia Department of Public Welfare and state health officials.

Services Expanded For Poor

By MERTHA NELSON
Staff Writer

In an expansion of services to the elderly and the poor, Franklin County Community Action has opened an emergency food pantry, delivers hot meals, provides jobs for older persons and has adopted the local chapter of the Salvation Army.

Agency Director David Hanney said the broadening of services is intended to meet the needs of low-income persons who are unable to provide for themselves.

The food pantry stocks canned and dry goods for the preparation of balanced meals and is open to those in emergency situations, such as families whose homes have been destroyed by fire or families that have recently expired all income sources and have an immediate need for food.

The first stocking of the pantry was financed with $1,000 grant from the State Department of Social Services and the Federal Emergency Management Agency. Another $1,500 has been earmarked for the agency, according to Hanney.

Community Action has expressed a total of $10 worth of groceries per adult, with additional subsidies for children. Since the pantry's stocking, 20 persons have received food valued at $200. All the families served so far have included children.

Anyone whose income falls within the national poverty guideline is eligible to receive food. For a single person, income may not exceed $164 monthly. The unemployed and persons whose jobs are seasonal have been excluded, but the service is available only once. Repeat services will be allowed only in extreme cases, Hanney said.

Recipients of Aid to Dependent Children and Supplemental Security Income are not eligible. Neither is anyone whose liquid assets exceed $1,000.

A long-standing program for the delivery of hot meals to the homes of the aged, poor and handicapped now serves about 10 persons weekly. Meals are prepared at the home of the recipient and delivered to the home of the recipient. It also provides transportation to work for themselves. It also provides counseling and job training. Hanney says outreach workers delivering hot meals also check on the well-being of the recipients and check on the status of the program. Hot Community

From our Board President

A name can tell you a lot about an organization. In 1990, the Board of Director's were faced with choosing a new name for what had been Franklin County Community Action. Whether the Board intended for it to be so or not, the name they chose sixteen years ago, STEP, is a truly fitting descriptor of our work.

As a community action agency seeking to eliminate poverty and create better lives for the less fortunate in our region, STEP has been the pathway for countless individuals and families in their journey to a brighter future. Through educational services to children, housing assistance, programs for the elderly, and numerous initiatives to help families escape the binds of poverty, STEP literally serves as the stepping stones out of a life of unfortunate circumstances and lays the foundation for a better tomorrow. The citizens of Franklin and Patrick counties have been blessed immeasurably in the past forty years by STEP, and we look forward to even more active service in the years to come.

The words of John Wesley, founder of Methodism, are a fitting descriptor for STEP's mission. In the 1700's, Wesley wrote the following:

"Do all the good you can,
By all the means you can,
In all the ways you can,
In all the places you can,
At all the times you can,
To all the people you can,
As long as you ever can."

By helping individuals have hope for a brighter tomorrow, STEP will continue in our next forty years to serve others, at all times and in whatever ways necessary, to help them take the steps out of poverty. Thank you for assisting us in our mission, and we look forward to partnering with you to ensure the success of our mission in the years ahead.

Seventy Attend First Credit Union Meeting

Approximately 70 persons attended the first organizational meeting of the Franklin County, Virginia Credit Union Monday at First Baptist Church. William Stark of Lynchburg, Virginia, president of the Virginia Credit Union League, presided at this meeting. Other speakers were Ray Vernon, field representative, and Mrs. Margaret Hofawager of Lynchburg, both members of the Virginia Administration Credit Union. Officers elected at the meeting are the Rev. Ennis Leake, president, who is pastor of church and community services at Ferrum College; A.A. Hicks, vice president, who is an agricultural extension agent; Josephine S. Robinson, secretary, who is executive director of Franklin County Community Action, and Mrs. Leticia Radford, treasurer, who is manager of the Craft Center at Ferrum. Other members of the board of directors are Arthur Owens of Ferrum College; Mrs. Arline Thomas, a Community Action staff member, and Charles Williams, director of West Virginia Central 4-H Educational Center. The committee will be

The first study concerning a county credit union was held in September of 1969 as a joint endeavor of the county Community group and Ferrum College. As a result of this effort, an application was made for a self-help, thrift organization. Approval has since been received, and the credit union recently received its charter. Interested persons should contact any of the members for information concerning membership in the credit union.

Presiding at this week's meeting, Stark outlined federal regulations for the credit union. His audience approved all recommended points.

From our Executive Director

It was 40 years ago that Dr. C. Ralph Arthur, President of Ferrum College, led a group of concerned individuals in starting the Franklin County Community Agency. Dr. Arthur embraced the idealism of the 60's and joined the "War on Poverty." We could not have survived for 40 years without the vision of our Board of Directors, the sacrifice of our employees, and the support of our community. I believe our founding members would be proud of what's been accomplished.

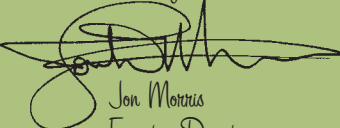

STEP, formally the Franklin County Community Action Agency, has a rich history. STEP has provided services to thousands of individuals over the years. We've installed new doors, wrapped chimneys, and installed insulation to help families save on energy costs through our Housing and Weatherization programs. We've helped low-income students be the first in their families to go to college through Project Discovery. Our Summer Work program and Adult Education programs helped people obtain employment and their GED's. We've helped thousands of children prepare for kindergarten through our Head Start Program. We even collaborated with Ferrum College to establish the very first Credit Union in Franklin County.

Over the past year, we have added new programs and expanded existing programs to better serve our community. STEP was recently awarded the Homeless Intervention Program, which will provide intervention services for individuals and families that are in danger of losing their homes due to circumstances beyond their control. Our mentoring program has grown tremendously and plans are underway to expand into Patrick County and Henry County. Our Alternative Special Education Program, now known as LIFES Academy, has doubled their capacity this year that will expand our services to include elementary age students.

As we reflect on our past and celebrate our 40 years, we are mindful that there are many families still living in poverty. There are many families that are one paycheck away from becoming homeless, children who are growing up without proper nutrition, and senior citizens who don't know whether to pay for food, heat, or medicine. There are bright teenagers who feel college is not attainable because their family cannot afford it.

So while we pause to celebrate 40 years of service, we realize there is so much work to do.

While we acknowledge our rich history, we are ready for what the future holds for STEP and we are humbled at the responsibility that we have been afforded. It is my fervent hope that STEP will continue to be a place of refuge for those in need, a model for those who serve, and a source of pride for the people of Franklin and Patrick Counties.

Sincerely,

Jon Morris

100 Pre-Schoolers At Five Communi

One hundred pre-school age children in Franklin County are taking advantage of the Pre-School Program being made possible by Franklin County Community Action.

The five preschool programs are being held in the county's five Community Centers. The centers are in Rocky Mount, Sontag, Callaway, Ferrum and the Lovely Valley Center in the Wirgin area.

Children five years old are enrolled in the program which was started last October. The current program will conclude in June, although most of the students will be in the Head Start program this summer.

Mrs. John Robinson, Community Action director, said that the largest number of students are enrolled in the program at the Rocky Mount Community Center, located on Franklin St. Approximately 25 five-year-olds are transported to and from center.

Pre-schoolers go to centers five days a week from 10 a.m. until 12 noon. During the two hours, stories, voice pictures, are read and "lessons" are given with other children," said center director said.

"Learning to get along with other children is one of the most important things a preschooler has to learn," she said. "I guess you could say that is similar to a kindergarten program," she added.

Mrs. Robinson noted that when these 100 children complete the current program and the summer Head Start program, they will be ready in many ways that are not in first grade classes.

ASEP provides classroom education for local special needs students. This program allows our students the opportunity to continue their education in Franklin County while helping them acquire the tools to transition back into their home school. In addition, ASEP saved Franklin County more than $85,000 in tuition and fees for our students. 15 students were enrolled during the 2005-2006 program year, resulting in 9 students transitioning back to their schools for part-day instruction, and 2 student returned full-time.

PROJECT DISCOVERY

This program provides tutoring, educational sessions, college visits, SAT preparation and other assistance to low-income middle and high school students who have aspirations of being a first generation college student. 25 students received college preparatory services in 2005-2006 and 60 students have already signed up for 2006-2007 school year.

People Making a Difference

Mr. Barry Dudley, Housing Director, started working at STEP, Inc. (formerly FCCA) as a Housing Crew Worker in February 1984. Barry has worked hard for the past 22 years becoming Crew Leader in 1986, Estimator/Inspector in 1988 and Housing Coordinator & Rehabilitation Specialist in 1996 before becoming Director in 1997. Many low-income families in Franklin and Patrick County live in safer, more efficient homes thanks to the hard dedicated work of Barry and the Housing Crew. As Barry says,

"I know what it's like coming from a poor family myself. It has helped me understand the needs and hopes of our clients and to be dedicated to serving the elderly, handicapped and low-income families in Franklin and Patrick Counties."

Ms. "BB" Hancock, Franklin County Head Start Manager, began working at STEP, Inc. (formerly FCCA) as a CETA worker at the Rocky Mount Day Care Center in 1971. After the birth of her 2nd child, she returned to STEP in 1975 as a Day Care Aide for 3 year-olds. In 1984, she left Rocky Mount Day Care to become a Head Start teacher at the Continuing Education Center, which housed all of the Special Needs students and handicapped children in the county. BB was promoted to Education Advisor/Home Based Coordinator for STEP's Grantee Head Start Program in 1992, a position she held through 1998. In 1999, she became Franklin County Manager, a position she continues to hold today. BB possesses an Associate Degree in Early Childhood Development, a Bachelor's Degree in Sociology, a CDL license and Child Development Associate Credential. Asked about her time at STEP she says,

"Working here for the past 30 some odd years I have seen good times and bad. Through it all, you do the best you can, learn as much as you can and tell yourself you really make a difference in other people's lives."

People Making a Difference

Ms. Jan Hart, Head Start Family Services Specialist for Franklin County, began working at STEP, Inc. in September 1977 (when it was Franklin County Community Action) as an Outreach Worker. Jan performed the first social work for the agency. During her 29 years at STEP Jan's skills and abilities as a Family Services Specialist have left a positive impact on the many children and families who have participated in our Head Start Program. During her time with STEP Jan states,

"It has been a great pleasure to work here all these years while providing a valuable service to our community and its citizens."

Ms. Barrie Magliocca, our Health/Disabilities Manager and a Registered Nurse, began working at STEP, Inc. in November 1985 (when it was Franklin County Community Action) as part-time Health Coordinator. In 1991, a year after FCCA changed its name to STEP, Inc. her position became full-time as we also began serving Patrick County. "Nurse Barrie", as she is affectionately called by her co-workers and clients alike, has provided a valuable service to STEP, Inc. and the many Head Start children and their parents. When asked to reflect on her time at STEP she said,

"It has been an education and a growing experience that I wouldn't change regardless of the 'bumps' in the road. I feel that I am very fortunate to be a member of this caring team serving children and their families."

IDA will complement STEP Inc.'s existing programs designed to enable low income citizens and vulnerable populations to achieve self-sufficiency through economic empowerment, community involvement and family development.

Persons interested in becoming a participant in the IDA Program should call STEP Inc. at (540) 483-5142.

Ms. Sharon Leavelle, a Franklin County Head Start teacher, began her career at STEP (formerly FCCA) in 1971 as a CETA Worker Summer Youth. Sharon was a cook for 3 years and became a Daycare Aide in 1974. She moved to STEP's Head Start Program in 1989 as a Teacher Assistant and then as a Head Start Teacher in 1992. In 1995, Sharon earned her Child Development Associate Credential and graduated from Virginia Western Community College in 1997 with an Associate Degree in Early Childhood Development. As Sharon says of her time at STEP,

"I've been employed at STEP for 31 plus years and it's really been a journey, a decision that I'm glad I made."

STEP is sure that there are many Head Start children and their parents in Franklin County that are glad she made that decision too.

Ocie Richards, 97 years old, has been receiving Home Delivered Meals from STEP since 2001. Ocie is very appreciative of STEP and of Dawn Lawrence, Senior Meals Driver. "They just have the best food," Ocie says. "I love the people. They are so sweet. I can't say nothing but good things about them."

Kristina Fitzgerald, a junior at Franklin County High School, is enrolled in Project Discovery. Kristina has been preparing herself for college by attending group sessions, going on college visits, and being mentored by Tiffany Wade, Project Discovery Coordinator. "Ms. Tiffany has and continues to help me out a lot with my future. Not with just school but with my whole life in general," says Kristina. "Project Discovery has really helped me because I was worried about money and how I would pay for college. Now I know the harder I work in school, that in the end my future will fall in place."

Jack Gearhart was released from prison on June 30, 2006 and immediately enrolled in VA CARES. With nowhere to live, VA CARES was able to provide lodging, toiletries, clothing, help him obtain his ID, and give him a tip on a job. He's been working at ACDC Drywall of Martinsville and is working towards becoming self-sufficient. Jack says, "Bill (VA CARES Coordinator, Bill Maydian) goes out of his way to help us. I had no place to go but to VA CARES. It's been wonderful"

Community Action for Patrick County

FAMMY KNICK
Writer

After two weeks on the job as Franklin County Community Action Center's new executive director, Joseph Bland Monday received the go-ahead from the FCCA executive board to apply for a $6,000 block grant for the agency. Bland said the executive board approved his plans to apply for the grant, which will be used to develop an outreach program for Patrick County. "This grant will help us develop a community organization in Patrick County that will work like a clearinghouse for all social service needs there," Bland said. The executive board meeting Monday was the first FCCA meeting since Bland was hired as executive director of the agency earlier this month. Bland replaced interim director Edna Hawkins who served at the agency until a permanent director was hired.

Bland is a former Buchanan County computer consultant for municipalities and as a stock broker in Roanoke and served Buchanan County including working as a years, executive director of the county's Health Department. (Continued on Page 5-A)

Credit Union Membership Over 100 Mark

Miss Cheryl Renee Shively, first child to join the Franklin County Credit Union, welcomed the 100th member, Miss Sheryl Annette Pugh last week.

Both of Ferrum, the parents are Mr. and Mrs. Garland Shively and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Pugh.

Membership of the new Credit Union includes several other children and teen-agers. Organized on January 26, the credit union now has 100 members and $1,762.25 savings. It has also made loans to members and can make others at reasonable interest rates for provident and productive purposes.

About 30 members are now depositing regular monthly savings, to a total of more than $150 per month. This is made possible by a payroll deduction arrangement with Ferrum College and Franklin County Community Action, Inc. Other employers are invited to Residents of the county, and persons others employed full time in the county, are eligible to join.

Officers are located in the Crafts Center at Ferrum and the Community Action building in Rocky Mount.

Credit unions began in Germany more than a century ago, as an effort at self-help after a famine in a rural village. The first U.S. credit union was among low income French Canadian immigrants in a church parish in New Hampshire in 1909. Now in the United States, there are more than 21 million members with over $13 billion in savings. Many Franklin County residents belong to credit unions where they work: the Highway Department; General Electric, Dupont, etc. This is the first credit union in Franklin County, open to any resident of the county.

Cost to join is 25 cents entrance fee, and at least 25 cents toward the first share. One is a full member when he owns one $5 share. Further information may be obtained from either office or from the officers, who include the following: Ennis Coale, president; A.A. Hicks, vice-president; Josephine Robinson, secretary; and Hettie Radford, treasurer.
